A Note from the Principal

This week we celebrated the 100th Day of School. Classes and grade levels celebrated in a variety of ways including; bringing in 100 items from home, creating art with 100 small objects, writing about what they would do with 100 of something, identifying 100 things they have liked about their grade level, listing 100 things they have learned throughout the year, performing 100 exercises, drawing pictures of themselves as 100 year olds, and my favorite, many students and staff dressed up like 100 year olds. Most importantly, the 100th day is a nice milestone for the staff at the Jacobs School to take a breath and reflect on the progress your children have made to this point in the year. With that said, we have 78 more days to get them where they need to be by the end of the year... but who's counting?

As you know, Tuesday is Valentine's Day. This is always a fun day at the elementary school level. However, due to the growing prevalence of food allergies and food intolerances among our students, I'd ask that you please not provide your child with any treats to be brought in and shared with classmates. The safety of students is always our number one priority.

~Mr. Shaw
