

JACOBS SCHOOL BLUE NOTES

OCTOBER 12, 2023

A Note from the Principal

This week brought exciting developments as our new embankment slide was finally installed. Our students are now enjoying a whole array of new recess features, including the Gaga pit, monkey bars, picnic tables, blacktop paint, and shade covering! I want to extend my sincere thanks to last year's School Council for their vision and hard work in planning and implementing these fantastic additions to our school. Their dedication has significantly enhanced the school experience for our students. This year's School Council is gearing up to start their meetings in just a few short weeks, and I look forward to our collaborative work.

Because this is Fire Safety Week, Fire Prevention Captain Ahlquist and Firefighter DaSilva of the Hull Fire Department led fire prevention lessons for students in Grade PreK-6. Each grade level participated in discussions about smoke detectors, carbon monoxide detectors, escape plans, 911, or ice safety. Students should turn in their fire safety poster or essay by Monday, October 16, for a chance to ride the fire truck to school!

In other exciting news, our "Raising Multicultural Kids" program is about to kick off. Diverse Leaders will begin teaching their lessons to homerooms next week, covering various cultural topics throughout the year. We will provide lesson objectives in my letter each month to keep you informed about the enriching and enlightening experiences our students will have. November's RMK Curriculum Maps are attached to these Blue Notes.

In line with our commitment to open communication, I'll be sending my first Seesaw message to all of you tomorrow as we work to strengthen our communication channels. As always, we remain fully committed to your child's social, emotional, and academic success. Have a great week.

—Mr. Shaw
