A Note from the Principal

Thank you all for attending the Holiday Concert. The students did a magnificent job! Each year we say this was the best concert ever, and it’s true again this year. It was a pleasure to see so many parents, grandparents, friends, and family members in the audience. Thank you to Mr. Taylor and all the students for their hard work.

Tuesday’s Barter Flea Market was a smashing success as well! Closets were cleaned, shopping was completed and more than 1100 food items were collected for Wellspring’s Food Pantry. Thank you to all who contributed, and to Mrs. Lowry, the creator and coordinator of this wonderful event.

Tonight, the PTO Elives will transform the Jacobs School into a magical wonderland (the theme remains a surprise to students!) because tomorrow is Jacobs Express Day! Snacks and drinks will be served, crafts will be made, and reindeer games will be played! Students are invited to wear their pajamas (and sneakers) for the festivities. Thank you to Nicole Dunn, Courtney McCarthy and Regan Yakubian for coordinating this amazing event, and to the PTO and all their elves who decorate, donate and volunteer throughout the day.

I wish you all a delightful winter vacation filled with many memory-making moments with family and friends. Happy New Year!

—Mrs. Cappadona

Tell Mrs. Buonagurio what you think Ella’s family (and Mrs. Buonagurio’s family) learned to earn a Pirate’s Gold.

We were so proud of our students’ performance in the Winter Concert today. Their months of hard work truly paid off with a spectacular show by all grade levels!

Thank you to the family members & friends who attended.

Congratulations to Mr. Taylor and all of his young protégés for putting on such a great concert!

Please return all library books before the winter break. Thank you!
